The Academy

The North American Academy of Ecumenists informs and encourages those involved in ecumenical activities and studies through an unique, open structure which invites ecumenists to explore issues that challenge official ecumenical agencies and projects.

Founded in 1957, the Academy meets annually in September. Informal in style, its conferences are professional and scholarly in substance. It draws together ecumenically active clergy and laity with professors and students to reflect theologically on the movement to realize the unity Christ gives the church.

To realize the gift of unity in Christ's Church

We belong to one another!

Called to be the One Church, Porto Alegre, 2006, calls churches to acknowledge their mutual responsibility to one another.

Yet churches continue to act independently and to seek renewal by accenting distinctive identities.

The call to mutual responsibility is challenged in substantial ways:

- ◆ pressures for organizational survival,
- ◆ growing cultural disenchantment with religion, and
- ◆ wide diversity in decision-making procedures that can address current questions of faith and life in contravening ways.

The 2011 NAAE Conference will study possibilities for mutual accountability, analyze specific forms of ecclesial identity and query the habit of hospitality toward one another as a means for realizing how “The Church’s oneness is an image of the unity of the Triune God in the communion of the divine Persons.” [II.3]
